Transforming lives

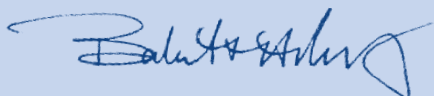

The Department of Social and Health Services' (DSHS) strives to transform the lives of those we serve. The programs offered by the Community Services Division (managed by the Economic Services Administration) are designed to help our clients build strong foundations so they can live their best lives and thrive at all stages of life.

As the Director of the Community Services Division, I am honored to work with more than 2,500 dedicated staff to ensure we provide the highest quality of service to the people of Washington. We do our work through a network of local offices, out-stationed workers, two Mobile Community Service Offices and a statewide Customer Service Contact Center.

I hope you find the information in this booklet helpful as you learn more about the services and programs we provide. If you have any questions or need additional information about our services, please do not hesitate to contact our Customer Service Contact Center at 1-877-501-2233.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Basic Food

Basic Food Employment and Training

The Basic Food program provides access to fresh and healthy foods, which are essential for families to thrive. Basic Food is a combination of Washington state's federally funded Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) and the state-funded Food Assistance Program (FAP), which is for legal immigrants who do not yet qualify for federal SNAP benefits.

Eligible households receive an electronic benefits (EBT) card. The card is automatically reloaded monthly with the determined benefit amount. Basic Food can be used to purchase food and food-producing plants and seeds at participating grocery stores and farmers markets.

Employment, training services and work supports are available through the Basic Food Employment and Training (BFET) program, to qualified individuals receiving Basic Food who are not a recipient of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) or FAP benefits. See www.dshs.wa.gov/esa/community-partnership-program/basic-food-employment-training-bfet for more information.

Aged, Blind, or Disabled Assistance program

The Aged, Blind, or Disabled (ABD) program offers a cash grant to people who are age 65 or older, blind or living with a disability that would likely meet Supplemental Security Income (SSI) criteria.

Through the ABD program, individuals have the opportunity to connect with healthcare services to address barriers preventing them from participating more fully in our communities. These services include:

- Seeking career guidance and training through vocational rehabilitation services to identify meaningful employment.
- Accessing the Housing and Essential Needs (HEN) program to locate a safe, healthy and affordable home.
- Personalized assistance accessing the federal Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program for long-term financial support.

Housing and Essential Needs Referral program

The Housing and Essential Needs (HEN) Referral program offers individuals who are unable to work for at least 90 days due to a physical and/or mental incapacity, with access to essential-needs items. These items may include personal health and hygiene supplies, bus passes and potential housing support such as limited rent, utility and moving assistance.

Eligibility for referral to the HEN program is determined by DSHS. Eligibility for HEN housing assistance is determined by the Department of Commerce through a network of local community service organizations that assist people experiencing homelessness or who are at risk of becoming homeless.

The Child Care Subsidy programs

The Working Connections Child Care (WCCC) and Seasonal Child Care programs subsidize the cost of child care for eligible households with parents or other guardians who are working or participating in a DSHS-approved work activity, and whose children meet citizenship requirements. Families experiencing homelessness and working kinship care providers may also receive child care subsidies through WCCC. The Seasonal Child Care program subsidizes the cost of child care for eligible families who are seasonally employed in agriculture, live in designated counties and are not receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) benefits. In most cases, families receiving child care subsidy benefits are responsible for a co-payment to their child care provider, with the amount dependent on household income.

In these programs, DSHS helps pay for care provided by licensed or certified child care centers and child care homes. For WCCC, DSHS can help pay for care provided by:

- Licensed or certified child care centers.
- Licensed or certified family child care homes.
- Approved relatives who provide care in their own home.
- Approved adults who come to your home to provide care.

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families and State Family Assistance

The Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) and State Family Assistance (SFA) programs make sure Washington families have the tools to build a strong foundation for their lives, which allows them to weather the storms of life. We do this by connecting children and parents to such resources as temporary small cash grants based on family size, referrals to community resources (including learning opportunities for children), and WorkFirst services for most parents.

TANF/SFA households may also be eligible for:

- Additional Requirements for Emergent Need – TANF/SFA recipients who experience emergency situations, such as an eviction or a utility shut-off notice, may qualify for up to $750 in a 12-month period in addition to their monthly grant to meet the emergent need.
- Diversion Cash Assistance – TANF/SFA applicants who experience need for expenses such as rent or utilities may qualify for a one-time payment instead of a monthly grant in order to stabilize the applicant's situation before they are able to receive a reliable income.

WorkFirst

WorkFirst is Washington state's employment and training component of TANF/SFA, offering services for parents on their path to economic well-being so they and their children can thrive.

Dedicated WorkFirst staff support participants to identify personal goals and engage in activities that increase success in the program. The Department of Social and Health Services, Employment Security Department, the State Board for Community and Technical Colleges, and the Department of Commerce partner with WorkFirst to connect parents and caregivers with education, job training and employment opportunities. Each agency recognizes every individual's value and contribution of unique skills within their communities.

WorkFirst staff also help people build a strong foundation for well-being by providing supportive services to help eliminate systemic barriers to entering the workforce, which include professional clothing, gasoline, car repairs, educational expense, tools and equipment and relocation expenses.

Pregnant Women Assistance program

Pregnant Women Assistance (PWA) is a state-funded program that provides a cash grant to pregnant individuals with low incomes, who are not eligible for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) or State Family Assistance (SFA) program.

Office of Refugee & Immigrant Assistance

People who are refugees and immigrants can access specialized programs and services that lead to economic stability and integration into their communities.

These services include:

- Refugee cash and medical assistance.
- Refugee Health and Wellness programs.
- Employment services.
- English as a Second Language programs.
- Comprehensive case management.
- Immigration Assistance and Naturalization Services.
- Refugee School Impact Program.
- Unaccompanied refugee minor foster care.
- Mental health services for refugees.
- Naturalization services.

The Community Services Division's Office of Refugee and Immigrant Assistance partners with more than 60 different organizations, including refugee resettlement agencies, community-based organizations, ethnically-focused organizations, state agencies and educational institutions. ORIA's partners specialize in providing culturally and linguistically appropriate services.

Please note that all information shared with DSHS and our community partners is confidential and protected. We do not share it with other government agencies.

Medical Assistance programs

Medical Assistance programs administered through the Community Service Division are often referenced as Classic Medicaid. Classic Medicaid programs provide health care coverage to individuals who are age 65 or older, blind or considered disabled by Social Security standards. In order to qualify for Classic Medicaid programs, an individual must meet income and resource limits as well as age or disability standards. Classic Medicaid programs include:

- SSI-Related Categorically Needy (CN) Medical program. This program provides coverage to individuals who meet the SSI income and resource limits.
- SSI-Related Medically Needy (MN) program. This program, also known as “spenddown”, provides MN coverage to individuals with income above the SSI income and resource limits. Individuals who qualify, become eligible for MN coverage after incurring medical costs equal to the amount of the household’s income that is above the SSI income standard.
- Medicare Savings program (MSP). This program helps Medicare recipients pay for all or part of their Medicare premiums.
- Medical Care Services (MCS). This program provides coverage to individuals who are found eligible for the Aged, Blind, or Disabled (ABD) or Housing and Essential Needs (HEN) Referral program but who are ineligible for Classic Medicaid and other medical assistance programs due to their citizenship status.
